RELATIONSHIP BUILDING

1. Positivity®

What Is Positivity?

People with strong Positivity talents are generous with praise, quick to smile and always on the lookout for the upside of the situation. They always seem to find a way to lighten the spirits of those around them. They are optimistic, hopeful and fun-loving. They celebrate every achievement. They find ways to make everything more exciting and dynamic.

Why Your Positivity Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

Adaptability

Instinctively, you may feel content when you are surrounded by practical, credible, and experienced specialists. Sometimes they help you find the right answers to your questions or the correct solutions for your problems. With their help, you might increase your accuracy and increase your likelihood of pleasing people.

Because of your strengths, you now and then make daring requests or bold demands of certain individuals. Perhaps your life becomes a bit more meaningful when people respond favorably to your call for extra effort.

Driven by your talents, you occasionally want to share some of your time, talent, or treasure with others. You might have a particularly distinct sense of the importance of giving. Perhaps you are big-hearted by nature. Maybe this allows you to see what is good or right about individuals. To some degree, you keep your distance from those who only talk about what is wrong with people.

It's very likely that you sometimes compare your results to the outcomes others produce. Now and then, you even keep score. Maybe you enjoy testing your knowledge, skills, or talents against those of your classmates, teammates, or associates. Whether you win or lose, you might acknowledge the accomplishments and successes of individuals.

By nature, you remind people that they matter. Every interaction you have with another person feels like a reason to smile.

How Positivity Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

POSITIVITY + WOO

Socially and emotionally influential, you find it easy and enjoyable to meet a new person or to give hope to someone in despair.

POSITIVITY + INPUT

You are always on the lookout for something tangible that you can use to bring enthusiasm, energy, joy, and hope to others.

POSITIVITY + COMMUNICATION

When you talk with others about what you have together and what is working, it creates hope and restores energy.

POSITIVITY + ADAPTABILITY

You can often help in difficult situations because you naturally calm tense people down and lift discouraged people up.

Apply Your Positivity to Succeed

Encourage others by reminding them of the positives you see.

- ☐ Commit to praising the people you interact with most. Try to tailor this recognition to each person's needs. When you remind others of the positives you see, they feel better about life, and so do you.
- ☐ Make sure your praise and positivity are genuine. Some people are used to hearing the negatives, so make sure your praise and positivity are authentic. But keep repeating the positives to let these people trust you will always point out the upside.

INFLUENCING

2. Woo®

What Is Woo?

Woo stands for “winning others over.” People with strong Woo talents enjoy the challenge of encountering new people and gaining their esteem. They are drawn to meeting new people. They want to learn others’ names, ask them questions and find common interests on which to build rapport. People with Woo among their top themes can enter a crowd and easily know what to do and say. Some people shy away from starting up conversations because they worry about running out of things to say. People with a lot of Woo do not. They see no strangers — only friends they haven’t met yet.

Why Your Woo Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

Positivity	Woo	Input	Communication	Adaptability
------------	-----	-------	---------------	--------------

Because of your strengths, you probably are the person whom team members know best. You automatically reveal more information about yourself than many people would feel comfortable sharing.

Chances are good that you are bursting with energy and happiness. You cannot help but spread your enthusiasm to others. You are quick to share a smile and start a conversation. People often respond favorably to your outgoing and friendly manner.

Instinctively, you frequently need to know that others appreciate your ability to involve newcomers in discussions. You normally use compliments to acknowledge the talents or successes of those you meet. This prompts many strangers to say, “I’ve heard you are very friendly. Now I know it’s true.”

By nature, you enjoy chance encounters with friends and strangers. You engage them in conversation. Rarely are you at a loss for words. You delight in all kinds of dialogues, discussions, and verbal exchanges. You are apt to move swiftly from person to person, taking time to briefly chat with each individual.

Driven by your talents, you repeatedly place yourself in situations where your friendly and outgoing nature is appreciated. You really enjoy being the first person to talk with newcomers, strangers, or outsiders. Not surprisingly, you have a knack for asking them general questions and listening to their responses. You freely offer compliments. You are quick to tell someone you have a common interest.

How Woo Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

WOO + POSITIVITY

Socially and emotionally influential, you find it easy and enjoyable to meet a new person or to give hope to someone in despair.

WOO + INPUT

You collect helpful resources so that they can be circulated widely, and you do so with social ease and charm.

WOO + COMMUNICATION

Your interactions with others are effective because you speak with clarity and a pleasant charm.

WOO + ADAPTABILITY

You can take the lead in social situations, but you can also conform to what a certain situation demands.

Apply Your Woo to Succeed

Discover something about every person.

- ☐ Learn more about people you know — and don't know — by keeping track of their names and some personal details. Use this information to better remember people and even help you introduce them to others they might easily connect with.
- ☐ Ask people open-ended questions to find common interests. You have an exceptional ability to build a rapport with others, making them feel comfortable and more talkative.

STRATEGIC THINKING

3. Input®

What Is Input?

People with strong Input talents are inquisitive and always want to know more. They crave information. They might collect ideas, books, memorabilia, quotations or facts. Whatever they collect, they do so because it interests them. They find many things interesting and have a natural curiosity. The world is exciting precisely because of its infinite variety and complexity. A few minutes spent surfing the internet may turn into hours once their curiosity takes off. They constantly acquire, compile and file things away. Their pursuits keep their minds fresh. They know that one day the information or things they’ve gathered will prove valuable.

Why Your Input Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

- Positivity
- Woo
- Input
- Communication
- Adaptability

By nature, you may impress others as well-versed in a certain subject. Maybe you have invested time acquiring the sophisticated or technical vocabulary used by experts. When your teammates hear you speak or read your writing, some assume you know more than they do. Occasionally this is the case. Specific people may allow you to run meetings, make decisions, or solve problems. Sometimes they just step back and let you take charge.

Instinctively, you might read for relaxation and pleasure. Sometimes your carefree, cheerful, and easygoing approach to life is reflected in the types of books or publications you peruse — that is, examine studiously. If you can pull together bits of information, ideas, or facts for later use, you might feel content.

Chances are good that you revel in having time alone to read. You probably search through books, publications, documents, or the Internet to find information you can use to organize things for people. The facts and insights you gain frequently enable you to coordinate activities such as trips, special events, or work-related projects.

Driven by your talents, you may rely on reason to enlighten individuals about the intricacies of issues, processes, events, problems, or decisions. You occasionally detect nuances in data or information that certain people overlook. Perhaps you derive some degree of pleasure from bringing particular facts, points, or circumstances to the attention of others.

It's very likely that you aim to lead a big organization one day. You invest time gathering information about the responsibilities of the top position. In essence, you become a student of the job as well as the institution's opportunities, problems, challenges, shortcomings, or resources. Methodically, you acquire the knowledge and skills needed to apply for this role when it becomes available. You are determined that your credentials will outshine everyone else's.

How Input Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

INPUT + POSITIVITY

You are always on the lookout for something tangible that you can use to bring enthusiasm, energy, joy, and hope to others.

INPUT + WOO

You collect helpful resources so that they can be circulated widely, and you do so with social ease and charm.

INPUT + COMMUNICATION

You read, looking for interesting words and vivid stories because you want to be clear, compelling, and even a bit entertaining.

INPUT + ADAPTABILITY

You are aware of needs because you live in the present, and you often have what you and others need because you gather useful resources.

Apply Your Input to Succeed

Find different ways to gather and organize resources.

- ☐ Develop a system for storing and easily finding information to share with others. This can be as simple as an email folder setup or as sophisticated as a computer database. This system will help you quickly locate information that you can share with others.
- ☐ Meet with people interested in learning about the information you have collected. During your conversation, ask them to help you by taking notes or recording the talk. This could be another way to keep track of your resources.

INFLUENCING

4. Communication®

What Is Communication?

People with strong Communication talents like to explain, describe, host, present and write. Using their natural talents, they bring ideas and events to life. They turn thoughts and actions into stories, images, examples and metaphors. They want their information — whether an idea, an event, a discovery or a lesson — to captivate the audience. This drives them to hunt for the perfect phrase and draws them toward dramatic words and powerful statements, which is why people like listening to them. Their word pictures pique interest, provide clarity and inspire others to act.

Why Your Communication Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

PositivityWoo*Input*Communication*Adaptability

Driven by your talents, you engage others in conversation about the meaning of life. You discuss subjects beyond the understanding of the average mind. You afford individuals an opportunity to be creative, study, reflect, speculate, or tell stories. These activities stimulate your thinking. Undoubtedly, you prefer to spend time with intelligent people who can understand what you are saying.

Instinctively, you now and then demonstrate an ability to express your ideas in the presence of historians. This may occur when you are discussing historical events or telling stories about interesting people from the past.

Because of your strengths, you often engage people in one-on-one and group discussions. You share stories about your own and others' experiences so your audience can better visualize events, ideas, problems, or solutions.

By nature, you expand your horizons and knowledge when you engage in group conversations. You respond to differing points of view. You probably debate ideas. You incorporate into your thinking information from a wide variety of sources. These are just a few of the ways you acquire facts, data, and evidence.

It's very likely that you distinguish the fine points of each person's contribution to a conversation. You guide the exchange of information by drawing out the singular perspectives of everyone involved. You help individuals bring forth their varied, peculiar, eccentric, quaint, or unusual viewpoints. By honoring the uniqueness of each human being, you enliven many dialogues.

Help people put their ideas into words.

- ☐ Capture other people's thoughts in words and relay them back to these individuals. This will help you connect with people by bringing attention to and refining their messages.
- ☐ If you are in a group, volunteer to summarize any necessary communication after a meeting or social gathering. With your ability to clarify what others say, you bring attention to what needs to be heard.

RELATIONSHIP BUILDING

5. Adaptability®

What Is Adaptability?

People with strong Adaptability talents live in the moment. They don't see the future as a fixed destination. Instead, they see it as a place that they can create out of the choices they make right now. They discover their future one choice at a time. This doesn't mean that they don't have plans. But their Adaptability talents enable them to respond willingly to the demands of the moment, even if circumstances pull them away from their plans. They don't resent sudden requests or unforeseen detours. They expect them. On some level, they may look forward to them. They are, at heart, very flexible, and they can stay productive when circumstances pull them in many different directions at once.

Why Your Adaptability Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

PositivityWoo*Input*Communication*Adaptability

Instinctively, you enjoy reading. It allows you to gather information to expand your storehouse of knowledge. When surrounded by individuals who cannot sit still, giving your full attention to the printed word is apt to be difficult, if not impossible. You have a habit of avoiding the company of restless people when you want to give your undivided attention to a book, magazine article, newspaper account, personal correspondence, or official document.

Driven by your talents, you may trust you can deal with whatever happens. Perhaps you rely on your core values to sustain you in the face of uncertainty. The principles by which you live might permit you to accept life's unexpected and unpredictable occurrences.

By nature, you effortlessly adjust to the shifting challenges of the day. You enjoy variety and change. You are comfortable allowing each day to unfold on its own terms. You feel little stress when predetermined timelines must be scrapped. You probably regard rigidly organized plans and routines as barriers rather than helpful tools.

It's very likely that you characteristically let events unfold on their own terms without attempting to shape every outcome. This explains why you can play various games without paying much attention to the score.

Because of your strengths, you occasionally wait for situations or problems to arise, rather than plan in advance. If something or someone unexpectedly blocks your progress, you might easily find ways to adjust. Perhaps sudden changes force you to consider upgrades or tactics you had not thought of earlier.

Apply Your Adaptability to Succeed

Fine-tune your responsiveness.

- ☐ Keep making progress when unexpected things happen. The calmness you bring when things quickly change helps those around you to be able to press ahead with you.
- ☐ Act quickly when urgent matters arise. Those around you may depend on your comfort in the moment to help them see what needs to be done.
